MUFG Pledges Additional Support for Relief Measures
Amid the Prolonged COVID-19 Pandemic

Tokyo, March 4, 2022 --- MUFG today announced that it has decided to provide additional support in education and healthcare through its five core Group companies<sup>[1]</sup> against the impact of the Omicron variant of COVID-19 on Japan's society and economy.

1. Donation of ¥1 billion in education

Despite their ability and desire, some students are facing challenges in continuing their studies or advancing to higher education due to economic concerns stemming from the prolonged pandemic. MUFG will donate a total of ¥1 billion to the Ashinaga Foundation and Japan Educational Exchanges and Services to support such students through scholarships and lump-sum grants.

2. Donation of approximately ¥400 million in healthcare

Amid concerns of the increasing number of Omicron cases overwhelming medical resources, MUFG donated approximately ¥400 million to the All Japan Hospital Association (AJHA) to support the professionals at the frontline of treatment. The AJHA will allocate the donated funds to hospitals needing support, enabling MUFG to contribute to the maintenance and strengthening of stable regional healthcare delivery systems.

MUFG defines its Purpose as being "Committed to empowering a brighter future." Towards this goal, we will continue to take various measures to create a safe and secure future for our customers, communities, society, and the next generation.
